

Employees of CSU-Ft. Collins are eligible to enroll in courses at the University of Northern Colorado (UNC) through the reciprocal study privilege program. This reciprocal study privilege is administered according to the admission policies and enrollment procedures of UNC, the Host Institution, except that eligibility of the individual applicant shall be defined and determined by the study privilege policies of CSU-Ft. Collins, the Home Institution.

It is the employee's responsibility to accurately and timely complete any necessary admissions and/or enrollment paperwork subject to UNC's policies. The full cost of any tuition and/or fees for employees which are not deemed eligible or approved under the terms of this CSU-Ft. Collins Study Privilege program, shall become the employee's responsibility.

The employee must complete the forms attached below to utilize the reciprocal study privilege program at UNC and submit them to the CSU-Ft. Collins Benefits Unit for eligibility approval in accordance with all specified deadlines.

1. Reciprocal Study Privilege Eligibility Form (for UNC)

2. Employee Study Privilege Registration Form

Upon completion, the required forms are submitted to the CSU-Ft. Collins Benefits Unit for eligibility approval. After the CSU-Ft. Collins Benefits Unit processes your request, you will receive notification of eligibility. Please retain a copy of eligibility for your records and submit the originals to the UNC's Registrar's office and also take a copy to UNC's Human Resources Department along with your application.

Note: CSU-Ft. Collins employees are not required to submit the Employee Study Privilege Request Form to the CSU Registrar's or CSUOnline offices.

Please read carefully the attached information regarding taxation of the Employee Study Privilege (ESP) program. The ESP application begins on page 3 of this document.

This letter serves as a courtesy reminder about how Employee Study Privilege tuition may be taxable to you as you enjoy the program benefits.

According to Internal Revenue Code 127, which governs taxability for education programs offered by Higher Education, taxation applies to graduate level tuition benefits, which exceed $5,250 per calendar year (whether job related or not job related). The IRS defines graduate level as a student who has previously obtained an undergraduate degree and is seeking a new degree at either the undergraduate/graduate course level or taking graduate level courses without being degree seeking. Education related to games, hobbies or sports that are not directly related to seeking a degree are taxable.

The University is required to tax you on graduate level education received beyond the $5,250 calendar year limit and games, hobbies or sports. This will reduce your net pay on your pay advice at the end of the year. Please plan accordingly as you register for classes throughout the year. You may refer to the next page for a question and answer summary as well as a taxation example. The Employee Study Privilege Program application is located on the HR website at <http://www.hrs.colostate.edu/benefits/form-employee-study-privilege-request.pdf>.

If you have questions regarding the Employee Study Privilege taxation regulations, you may contact the HR Service Center at (970) 491-MyHR (6947) or the Business and Financial Services University Tax Manager at (970) 491-5509.

Why is tuition taxable?

According to the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) 117 and 127, taxation applies to graduate level educational benefits which exceed $5,250 per calendar year (requires taxation for the amount an employee receives beyond this limitation).

What is considered a graduate level course?

For this purpose, a graduate level course is defined as any course taken by an employee who has a bachelor's degree or is receiving credit toward a more advanced degree, if the particular course can be taken for credit (whether or not enrolled in a degree seeking program). Any course taken for credit beyond an initial bachelor's degree is taxable on a year-end pay advice.

What if I am obtaining an undergraduate degree for the first time?

IRC 117 allows an employer to provide undergraduate degree programs to their employees on a tax-exempt basis. It also allows an exemption to graduate students in teaching or research assistantships to receive tax-free tuition benefits.

Are courses related to games, hobbies or sports taxable?

The IRS prohibits tax-free education related to games, hobbies or sports that are not directly related to seeking a degree at both the undergraduate and graduate level (e.g., music, art, horseback riding).

Will my tuition benefit be taxed?

IRC 117 does not allow for graduate level* education benefits for employees (exception – graduate students in teaching or research assistantships). Under IRC 127, Employees taking any graduate courses or employees taking post bachelor undergraduate courses are limited to $5,250 and any amounts over that limitation will be included in taxable wages.

Example (will vary, based upon your individual tax bracket):

Total annual tuition benefit = $9,656 - $5,250 (non-taxable) = $4,406 x 22% (for example) = $969.32 is the amount deducted from your year-end pay advice

Type of Course		Tax Impact
Undergraduate	Graduate*	Subject to Taxation	Why is it Taxable
X		No	Any amount provided to an existing employee to pursue their first undergraduate degree is excludable from employee wages. Pursuant to IRC 117, "Qualified Tuition Reduction".
	X	Yes	Benefits in excess of $5,250 is taxable to the employee and is reportable on Form W-2 as wages, subject to applicable income tax withholding and payroll taxes. Pursuant to IRC 127.

*Graduate Level - includes post-bachelors, any undergraduate level courses beyond the first undergraduate degree obtained, or graduate-level courses.

1. What employee classifications are eligible for the Employee Study Privilege Program?

Eligibility for the Employee Study Privilege Program includes:

- Academic Faculty and Administrative Professionals with Regular, Special, or Temporary appointments of half-time or greater. This includes faculty on continuing or contract appointments;
- Faculty Transitional appointees are eligible for the same benefit available to full-time academic faculty;
- Post Doctoral Fellows, Veterinary Interns and Clinical Psychology Interns with appointments of 50% or greater;
- Non-temporary State Classified employees with appointments of 50% or greater.

2. How many credits am I eligible for?

Eligible employees with full-time appointments may register for up to nine (9) credits per Employee Study Privilege Program benefit year (commencing Summer session and ending Spring semester).

Credits are prorated based on your appointment percentage:

- 100% appt. - 9 credits
- 75 - 99% appt. - 7 credits
- 50 - 74% appt. - 5 credits
- under 50% appt. - 0 credits

3. What types of courses may I take?

The Employee Study Privilege Program allows one to take the following credit courses:

- Credit courses which are part of the Colorado State University Curriculum (as defined by the Colorado State University General Catalog);
- Credit courses offered by CSU Online;
- Credit courses offered through the Reciprocal Study Privilege available at Colorado State University (CSU) Global, Colorado State University Pueblo, and the University of Northern Colorado (UNC).

Note: Non-credit courses are not eligible under the Employee Study Privilege Program.

4. Does the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) require taxation of the Employee Study Privilege Program benefits?

Yes. According to the IRC, taxation applies to graduate level educational benefits which exceed $5,250 per calendar year (requires taxation for the amount an employee receives beyond this limitation).

For this purpose, a “graduate level course” will be treated as meaning any course taken by an employee who has a bachelor’s degree or is receiving credit toward a more advanced degree, if the particular course can be taken for credit (whether or not enrolled in a degree seeking program). Any course taken for credit beyond an initial bachelor’s degree is taxable.

Example:

Total annual tuition = $9,656 - $5,250 (tax-exempt) = $4,406 x 22% (based on your tax bracket) = $969.32 (estimated amount deducted from the employee’s year-end pay advice).

The IRS prohibits tax-free education related to games, hobbies or sports that are not directly related to seeking a degree at both the undergraduate and graduate level (e.g., music, art, horseback riding).

5. What are eligible expenses under the Employee Study Privilege Program?

Eligible expenses include:

- Base Tuition – up to 9 credits per year (prorated based on appointment percentage).
- Undergraduate Differential Tuition – up to 9 credits per year (prorated based on appointment percentage).
- Graduate Differential Tuition – at least one credit must be utilized each semester to allow eligibility.
- University Facility Fee – prorated according to the number of study privilege credits utilized.
- College Charges for Technology – prorated according to the study privilege credits utilized.
- University Technology Fee – credited (fee waiver) to your student account.
- General Fees – credited (fee waiver) to your student account. This waiver removes your free access to services under the General Fees including, but not limited to, the Student Recreation Center, CSU Health Network, University Counseling Center other campus services.

Note: The University Technology Fee and General Fees will still be credited (fee waiver) to your student account even if study privilege credits have been exhausted provided the Employee Study Privilege Registration Form is submitted.

Ineligible expenses include:

- Undergraduate tuition normally covered by the College Opportunity Fund (COF) – if you take a COF eligible course in a manner that COF cannot be applied (e.g., you do not apply for and authorize COF or you audit a course), the Employee Study Privilege Program will not cover the portion of tuition that would have been covered by COF.
- Special Course fees – a list of associated courses with applicable fees is available at: <http://provost.colostate.edu/students/>

After the exhaustion of available Employee Study Privilege credits, any remaining tuition, charges or fees are not eligible for coverage or the College Opportunity Fund (if applicable).

6. If my appointment percentage changes, will eligibility for the number of credits also change?

Yes. Eligibility for course credits is based on your appointment percentage at the time you apply for the Employee Study Privilege Program. For example, if your appointment is 100% during the Summer session, you are eligible for 9 credits. If you enroll in 6 credits, you have 3 credits to utilize for the next two semesters of the Employee Study Privilege Program academic year. If during the Spring semester your appointment percentage changes to 75%, total eligibility for credits would change to 7. Due to previously utilizing 6 credits in Summer session, you would have 1 credit remaining to utilize for the Spring semester.

Note: The same philosophy applies if an appointment percentage increases, the number of eligible credits would increase.

7. Is the College Opportunity Fund (COF) available to assist with the course cost?

Employees registering at an undergraduate level who are classified as Colorado residents for tuition purposes must apply for and authorize the use of COF. Failure to authorize COF will result in an additional charge to your student account. For more information, please visit <https://financialaid.colostate.edu/cof/f>.

Note: Not all courses are COF eligible including placement credits (math or challenge courses), CSU Online courses and courses taken with the grading option of audit. Undergraduate students registering for 600+ level courses are not eligible.

8. Am I able to use the Employee Study Privilege Program to take courses at other institutions?

The Employee Study Privilege Program includes reciprocal provisions that allow you to take courses at Colorado State University Global, Colorado State University Pueblo, and the University of Northern Colorado. Enrollment requires your agreement to fulfill financial obligations and abide by the policies of the reciprocal educational institution in which your student status is obtained.

Program eligibility shall be defined and determined by the Employee Study Privilege Program of Colorado State University. Additional forms are required to gain pre-approval under the reciprocal provisions of the Employee Study Privilege Program and are located at www.hrs.colostate.edu/benefits/study-privilege.html and are submitted to Human Resources.

9. What is the deadline to register for courses?

On-Campus Instruction: A course may be added through the end of the Add period listed for the class. The specific date for each course is listed on the online class schedule or in RAMweb. More information about this date and other dates can be found by accessing the appropriate semester under Important Dates on the Registrar's Office website. You may register for courses through the end of the registration period. Note that after the first week of classes many students will need instructor approval to add/register for a course.

CSU Online: The last day to register varies by course, visit www.online.colostate.edu for details.

Reciprocal Study Privilege Program: Subject to the institution rules in which your student status is obtained (CSU Global, CSU Pueblo, and UNC).

10. What is the policy on adding or dropping a course after the deadline?

On-Campus Instruction: Policies vary; see below.

- Only registered for 1 course:

If you drop your only course for the semester, you are completing a university withdrawal. Please access University Withdrawal under the "Registration" section in RAMweb to process the withdrawal for the term. Study privilege credits are forfeited for the defined benefit year. However, if the University Withdrawal occurs within a term's 100% refund period, study privilege credits are not forfeited.

Note: No courses or grades will be listed for that term. Be aware a notation will appear on your transcript indicating a withdrawal was processed for the semester.

- Registered for 2 or more courses:

A course may be dropped through the end of the Drop period for the individual course. The specific date for each course is listed on the online class schedule or in RAMweb. More information about this date and other dates can be found by accessing the appropriate semester under Important Dates under the Students section on the Registrar's Office website. If you drop a course within the drop period but remain a student for the term and enrolled in at least one course, the dropped course will not be reflected in your academic record. Tuition and fees may be adjusted as a result.

Note: If you drop all courses you are completing a University Withdrawal. Please access the University Withdrawal link under the "Records" section in RAMweb to process the withdrawal for the term.

- Summer Session Drop Policies:

A course, even if it is your only course, may be dropped through the end of the Drop period for the individual course. Refer to the Summer Session website for registration information, (e.g. policies, appeals, add/drop dates).

CSU Online: Drop, withdrawal, and University withdrawal deadlines for CSU Online credit courses differ from University on-campus instruction deadlines. Any changes made to your class schedule may impact your financial obligation to the University and eligibility for financial aid. It is your responsibility to verify that the drop or withdrawal has been processed properly. Visit www.online.colostate.edu/faqs/policies/drop-policy.dot for information regarding the drop and withdrawal policy.

Reciprocal Study Privilege Program: Subject to the institution rules in which your student status is obtained (CSU Global, CSU Pueblo, and UNC).

11. If I submit the Employee Study Privilege Program application, but subsequently drop a course during the add/drop period, will these credits be forfeited?

On-Campus and CSU Online Instruction: Policies vary; see below.

- Only registered for 1 course:

If you drop your only course for the semester, you are completing a university withdrawal. Please access University Withdrawal under the "Registration" section in RAMweb to process the withdrawal for the term. Study privilege credits are forfeited for the defined benefit year. However, if the University Withdrawal occurs within a term's 100% refund period, study privilege credits are not forfeited.

- For summer, refer to Summer Session Drop Policies under Question 10.

- Registered for 2 or more courses:

If you drop a course but remain a student for the term enrolled in at least one course, the dropped credits will not be subtracted from your eligible credits available per Employee Study Privilege Program benefit year (commencing Summer session and ending Spring semester) as long as the course is dropped before the drop period ends for the individual course.

12. Can I withdraw from a course once the semester has begun?

On-Campus Instruction: Yes, you may withdraw from the course. Policies vary; see below.

- Only registered for 1 course:

Once a semester has started, withdrawing from your only course is considered a university withdrawal. Please access University Withdrawal under the “Registration” section in RAMweb to process the withdrawal for the term. Study privilege credits are forfeited for the defined benefit year. However, if the University Withdrawal occurs within a term’s 100% refund period, study privilege credits are not forfeited.

- Registered for 2 or more courses:

The course withdrawal period begins after the add/drop period and closes at the end of the eighth week of the term. A “W” (withdrawal) will be recorded on your academic record except in the case of the 60-credit English composition and mathematics requirements (see the All-University Core Curriculum section of the general catalog). No drops may be made after the add/drop period. See also Class Attendance Regulations in the All-University Core Curriculum section of the catalog.

- Tuition and fees will not be adjusted for withdrawals during the course withdrawal period. See also Tuition and Fees Adjustments in the Financial Services for Students chapter of the catalog. Credit hours for any withdrawn courses will count toward your yearly benefit maximum of nine (9) credit hours (maximum credits available are prorated based on your appointment percentage).
- After the course withdrawal deadline, you will not be permitted to withdraw from an individual course unless you have unusual circumstances and a Registration Appeal is submitted to the Registrar’s Office and approved. (Students who will not successfully complete any courses for the term should reference University Withdrawal policies and seek advising on their situation.) If a Registration Appeal is approved, you will receive a grade notation of “W” unless the approval specifies another grade. The credit hours for the withdrawn course will count toward your yearly benefit maximum of nine (9) credit hours (maximum credits available are prorated based on your appointment percentage).

CSU Online: Drop, withdrawal, and University withdrawal deadlines for CSU Online credit courses differ from University on-campus instruction deadlines. Any changes made to your class schedule may impact your financial obligation to the University and eligibility for financial aid. It is your responsibility to verify that the drop or withdrawal has been processed properly. Visit www.online.colostate.edu/faqs/policies/drop-policy.dot for information regarding the drop and withdrawal policy.

13. Who should I contact if I have questions about my eligibility for the Employee Study Privilege Program?

You may contact Human Resources at (970) 491-MyHR (6947) for the Employee Study Privilege Program features and eligibility rules.

If you have questions regarding your student account (tuition or associated fees) please contact the Registrar’s Office at (970) 491-4860 or CSU Online at (970) 491-5288.

14. Am I permitted to enroll in courses that occur during my scheduled work hours?

Your supervisor must pre-approve your enrolled courses. The ability to attend class during your normal work hours requires supervisor approval and is based on the business needs of your department.

Time off for courses you are enrolled in initiated at the direction of the department to improve job skills are generally classified as administrative leave and should be reflected as such.

15. Can I adjust my credits within the Employee Study Privilege Program benefit year once my registration form has been processed?

- Credits available under the terms of the program may not be reserved for future Employee Study Privilege Program benefit years (commencing Summer session and ending Spring semester). Any unused credits are forfeited from program eligibility.
- Once the Employee Study Privilege Registration Form has been processed, credits may not be adjusted or transferred. For example: 1) Credits which have been approved for use in a prior semester may not be reallocated to a future semester; 2) Credits which have been approved for use in the current semester may not be reallocated to a past semester.

16. Do I need to fulfill the same immunization requirements as students not employed by CSU?

Yes. The Colorado Statue defines a college student as any student who is enrolled for one or more classes at a college or university and who is physically present at the institution. This includes students who are auditing classes. Students must submit proof of measles/mumps/rubella (MMR) vaccinations or evidence of immunity.

- Students born after January 1, 1957 must provide documented proof that they have received two measles, one rubella (German measles) and two mumps vaccinations OR two combination MMR vaccinations.
- Students born before January 1, 1957 are assumed to have been exposed to disease and are exempt from this requirement. No documentation of MMR is required.

The above policy does not apply to students taking online courses.
